PATRON: Student Board of Governors

REV. HENRI RENARD, S.J., Ph.D.

Because of Father Henri Renard's great service to this university and student body, we are dedicating this annual to him. Practically all C. U. students have used one or more of his textbooks at some time or other. He is held in high repute by all philosophers and is one of the outstanding Thomists in this country.

If the students on the Hill were to select their favorite professor, it is very likely that their choice would be Father Renard. He takes a deep interest in each and everyone of his students and is always willing to counsel anyone both in spiritual and temporal affairs. Perhaps one of Father's greatest assets is that he is the living embodiment of all that he teaches. Thus, we of the BLUE JAY are proud to dedicate this book to a very deserving Jesuit, Father Henri Renard.

Executive Assistant to the President

One of the few men considered indispensable to any university is the executive assistant to the President. Such a man is Father Linn. Rarely has one man been faced with more seemingly insurmountable obstacles and then hurled them to the four winds. In addition to heading Creighton's Public Relations staff, this padre annually travels thousands of miles speaking to old friends and alumni interesting them and others in the present Creighton and the new Creighton of the future. Nonetheless, his hands guide the fund-raising, developmental, building, operating, and endowment programs. For this and many others we of the BLUE JAY offer congratulations on a job well done.

Throughout the College of Arts and Sciences rings the time honored and often battered expression "a liberal education." However, in Creighton College this theme is well founded and ever enforced by the friendly and efficient Dean Father William Kelley. Always willing and able to pass a triple cut or a re-admit card over his desk is Father L. F. Jansen, the assistant dean. Through the halls of Creighton College pass the 4.0's and the 1.9's, the freshmen eager for orientation, the sophomores who know the run of the campus, the juniors who wish they were seniors, and the seniors both sorry and glad they've made the grade. All classes participate in the college's activities — KOCU, Creighton Players, Blue Jay, Creightonian. Many of these students will go on to medicine, dentistry, law — others to business; yet all will carry and cherish the ideals and spirit which Creighton has instilled in their hearts.

Class Presidents:
Richard Rozman 3, Patrick Nipp 4, Michael Shannon 2

The tradesmen of the campus operate at 25th and Cass. From economics to income tax, these future business men are willing to finance any and all expedient adventures. Here under the guiding tutelage of Dean Floyd E. Walsh, the students are prepared to meet realistically a materialistic world which plays no favorites. However, the business principles alone do not contain the contributions of the commerce school to its students. Here also, the student gains that immaterial spirit of "fairplay" which marks a business man as ethical in a rather unethical world.

returning to that world . . . dentists,

"Drill . . . pliers . . . axe . . . novocain . . . , oh phooey, come back tomorrow and we'll try again." In the horror filled walls of the dental clinic, Creighton's future dentists under the most capable supervision are performing tasks to benefit mankind. Yet at times, mankind is exceedingly ungrateful. Many hard years of study go into the title D.D.S., but how many of us fail to appreciate this? Under Dean Lynch and Father Stumpf, top flight students are picked and prepared for a lifetime of service to their communities. Rigorous as the pre-dental training and the professional courses of anatomy and bacteriology are, the happy result is long anticipated.

"Your Honor, we find this man . . ." This phrase is frequently heard in the moot court of Creighton School of Law. Each year many young men apply to Law School dreaming of the day when they will enter the legal profession. Here they will learn the meaning of "tort," misdemeanor, and if they do not know, an ample library of some 40,000 volumes holds the answers. Here these young men are also taught the ethics necessary for a full and understanding practice of law. Needless to say, the Student Bar Association offers the aspirant an ideal model of the perfect lawyer. Unending hours of research and practical experience in the Legal Aid Clinic are absolutely indispensable in the lawyer's education. This clinic turns out some of Nebraska's finest lawyers Science, arts, intelligence, and more science are the theme of Creighton's pre-med and in particular, Creighton's school of Medicine. In those hallowed halls Doctor Frederick Gillick, Dean, Doctor Richard L. Egan, Assistant Dean, and Father John Foley, Regent, carefully screen the would-be students of Medicine. Through its clinic hundreds are given the best of free medical care. The student health service is run under the auspices of the clinic. Here the sick, injured, and those cutting classes are cured in one form or another. Yet, the reason for the existence of the medical school is well fulfilled. From its labs and classes each June pass not only men competent in the medical field which they have chosen as a career but also men with character based upon sound moral, ethical, and religious principles.

Located at 14th and Davenport, the College of Pharmacy has an ideal location. Here in conjunction with the Medical Clinic, the pharmacy student is given the opportunity to practice that which he is taught. Pharmacy is the only professional school not requiring undergraduate work. However, the student is thoroughly familiarized with anatomy, pharmacology, chemistry, and physiology. Nevertheless, these hard workers have an annual fling, visiting outstanding pharmaceutical companies in the East.

Director of St. Catherine's

The St. Catherine's nurses, after having spent a long torturous year at Creighton, spend three years at the hospital learning the fine points of nursing under Sister Mary Kevin, R.S.M. Their education is a well-rounded program of scientific, cultural, religious, and social training. Many Creighton fellows find that these nurses are good date material. Rarely is there a Creighton dance in which one or more candidates are not from St. Catherine's. From their midst this year came the ROTC's Honorary Colonel. One of the principal organizations at St. Catherine's is the student council which organizes the nurses so that friendship, higher professional standards, and social functions prevail. The climax of this education is graduation, and after the state board examinations their R.N.

With men who like to date, it's St. Joe's nurses two to one. For some reason the nurse seems to have that quality gained from caring for the sick which appeals to men. The nurses have many social programs such as mixers, frosh capping, the big sister party, and climaxing with the Sweetheart Ball in Febraury. Sister Mary Louis, O.S.F., is the supervisor of the nurses. Some of the tribulations in the life of the nurses are the split shifts, the PM's, and the emergency calls at four in the morning. In spite of all this work the nurses carry a well-rounded educational program. They are taught religion, philosophy, the sciences, and the practical aspects of medicine. The midnight oils are often burnt in cramming for comps, but at long last "we are R.N.'s."

Research, research, and more research.

While Father Henry Casper enjoys a brief leave of absence, Dr. Raymond Nielson has assumed the reins of the graduate school. Each year more and more students come to haunt the realms which the graduate school offers. The graduate school endeavors to extend and enlarge the world of undergraduate departments by offering the qualified students the opportunity "to pursue advanced courses and engage in specialization and research.

Kenneth Kunce and Miles Vana

The Board of Governors serves as Creighton's senatorial body, for they are the representatives of the student body and yet are subject to the veto power of Father Reinert. A few of this year's activities included Homecoming, Community Chest Drive, the Student Union Building Fund, student governors

James Monahan and William Holthaus, Pres.

Paul Rauth and William Kennedy

Agnew Loan Fund, early publication of the student handbook and directory, Junior-Senior Prom, etc. The Board with Bill Holthaus as president and Father Miller as moderator has been one of the most active boards ever assembled at Creighton.

John Duffy and Frank Brau

"Student Union by '60!" "Vote here!" were the cries heard on the campus during the month of January. With the promise of Father Reinert to match every dollar the students raised, one thousand ninety-nine students voted and approved the proposal of each one giving five dollars at second semester registration to be placed in the Student Union Building Fund. Because of this generosity the Student Union became a reality, for the Union is now assured of an annual income — approximately eight thousand five hundred dollars.

When the successful basketball campaign of '53-54 came to a climax, everyone held dim views of the upcoming season. The only bit of encouragement was that Eddie Cole — the unorthodox kid from Turtle Creek — was returning. However, when tryouts were held in the fall, praises were being sung for Bob Gibson, a native of Omaha Tech. Bob is a negro and was the first of his race to don the Blue and White of the varsity. After the first game was a matter of history, everyone knew that these praises were justified. A great floor man, a dead-eye with that ramrod jump shot of his, and a great rebounder — yes, that is Bob Gibson (and only a sophomore). Keep it up, Bob; we'll be hearing much more about you. No doubt he could be one of Creighton's greatest, if not the greatest.

Homecoming! Parade! Hall decorations! Rally! Bonfire! Push Ball! Game! Dance! Yes, Creighton surprisingly came to life during the week of December tenth. Everyone pitched in. Floats were constructed in various places — basement of Dowling Hall, garages, the wideopen spaces. The members of the halls were battling it out for the first prize in the hall decorating contest (Noonan Hall triumphed). Professors were as much aware of homecoming as were the students, for the nodding of heads was even more prominent during this week. "But prof, I got to bed at eight o'clock — eight o'clock this morning, that is." The administration was in a generous mood, and December eighth was declared a total holiday; the tenth was free from noon on. The parade was a gigantic spectacle and represented much effort and time. After the parade the students gathered in the stadium for the championship battle of the intramural football teams. However, the main point of interest turned out to be the pushball contest between Theta Upsilon and Theta Phi Alpha. This bone-crushing, bruising, hairpulling contest kept the crowd a roaring. At sunset a giant bonfire was built and homecoming candidates were introduced. At seven-thirty the gym was filled with cheering Blue Jays. The game was nip and tuck all the way, but Wyoming's Cowboys were a little too much for the young Creighton team. Immediately after the court tussle everyone went to Peony Park to dance to the music of Eddie Haddad and orchestra. Patty Friel was crowned Homecoming Queen. Thus, a fun-packed, eventful homecoming disappeared into the annals of history.

Nineteen hundred fifty-four, though not the year of great events, will long be remembered by Creightonites. November saw the papers report a major political victory for the Democrats, but Creighton's own Doctor James Hart was unable to climb aboard the bandwagon. Through the winter the tenseness of the Russian instigated cold war continued, but everyone was learning to live with it. Eighteen and nineteen year olds were unburdened by lightened draft quotas causing the student body as a whole to become natural again with younger, more spirited freshmen and sophomores.

Nineteen hundred fifty-four - fifty-five thus became the year of great and small events — events that, though lacking outstanding importance, made C.U. a happier and greater place from which each one of us garner our present preparations for a future life.

All was not happiness for Creightonians though. Just when life had settled down from the excitement of the beginning term, the hand of God reached into the ranks of the Jesuits and took home the soul of the Rev. Charles Hayden. Father was the head of the physics department from 1937 to this death. Many joyous moments were had by the students because of Father's antics as a magician. He was quite an adept magician and enjoyed local prominence as an after-dinner speaker. All of those who even had him as a professor will always think highly of him. His sense of humor made each and every one of his physics classes pass a little faster. Many will remember this punch line — "George, please be careful where you pour that lead." Creighton lost a professor; heaven gained a Saint.

These were four of the biggest events of the year, and now as another term comes to a close, we, the staff, are hoping that you have had a successful year; and may God bless you, and you, and especially you!

SOCIETY

Queens are usually elected by student vote or are chosen by a representative group of the student body. Our Yearbook Queen and her two attendants, however, were selected by the famous bandleader Ralph Flanagan. When Ralph Flanagan played at Peony Park, January 30, he was presented with a picture of each of the ten candidates for Yearbook Queen. The candidates were from Arts, Commerce, and the two schools of nursing. Flanagan was asked to pick the three girls he thought best personified the beauty that a college co-ed should possess. He then specified the ones he judged to be best qualified for this honor. Finally he chose the Queen and placed the other two girls as her first and second attendants. As can be seen from Flanagan's selections, all Creighton can be justly proud of the beauty of its co-eds; and all will agree, that in our Yearbook Queen, we have a ruler who is truly regal and lovely.

The International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi was founded in 1907 with the local chapter being established in 1930. This Commerce fraternity purposes to further a higher standard of civic and commercial ethics in the community. Monthly dinners with prominent business speakers and periodic professional tours emphasize the professional aspect. The spring formal honoring the Rose of Deltasig highlights an active social season. Deltasigs are well represented in Alpha Sigma Nu and Beta Alpha Psi honor societies, claim both Commerce Board of Governors' representatives, and hold many class offices. In addition, Pete Frenzer was honored by the Nebraska Manufacturer's Association when he was selected to represent the students of Nebraska at their annual convention in New York. Mr. Bernard Conway is the faculty moderator.

More renowned on campus for their basketball prowess than their teeth-pulling skill, the "Zips" copped the Interfraternity Basketball Championship for the third straight year, thus giving them permanent possession of the Interfrat basketball trophy. A professional dental fraternity, Alpha Kappa chapter of Xi Psi Phi, was founded in 1915 for the purpose of providing a better, more substantial foundation on which to build a successful professional life. Monthly meetings and clinics, the pledge dinner, the founder's day party, steak fries, and the annual senior party insure the "Zips" of a well-rounded social curriculum. Fraternity Moderator is Dr. Leo A. Ambrose.

delta theta phi

One of the oldest fraternities on campus is Bryan Chapter of Delta Theta Phi. Established at Creighton in 1916 this law frat strives for scholastic and social achievement through student association. Active participation by Delta Theta Phi members is evidenced by their representation in Alpha Sigma Nu, the Board of Governors, the law class offices. In addition, they claim the president of the Interfraternity Council. A busy social schedule of parties, picnics, and luncheons was climaxed in May by the Year's End Party. Jack North is fraternity moderator.

The Creighton Athletic Director is J. V. "Duce" Belford. In his thirty years at Creighton Duce has become a familiar figure on the campus. Duce stepped up to the post of athletic director two years ago, and has taken it upon himself to see that Creighton schedules more of the bigger schools throughout the country. During his years as head basketball and baseball coach at Creighton, and also as a scout for the Brooklyn Dodgers, Duce has made many contacts, which is a boon to him in his present position.

Coach Subby Salerno has been connected at Creighton for 14 years. After graduating from Prep in 1945, he continued his sports prowess on the Hilltop by starring in basketball for C. U. In the fall of 1949 he took over as freshman coach, and in 1953 he assumed his present position as head basketball coach. A Creighton man all the way, Subby has advanced steadily, and we look for him to keep rising.

The Rev. Norbert J. Lemke, S. J., this year took over the role of Faculty Moderator of athletics, replacing Rev. David A. Shyne, S. J., who had held the position for 16 years. Father Lemke stepped right in and took over where Father Shyne left off. This is Father Lemke's 5th year at Creighton, and in these years he has gained many friends both on and off the campus. It is Father Lemke's duty to act as a go-between with the faculty and the athletic department, and he has done an excellent job this past year.

Creighton University's 1954-1955 basketball team finished with a 5-win, 14-loss record.

This graduation-blitzed squad, dominated by freshmen and sophomores, played fine ball at times. But as it often is with young teams, they could not keep a consistent pace.

Coach Subby Salerno built his team this year around Eddie Cole, the only returning regular. Eddie performed his job brilliantly, pouring in 448 points in 19 games, an average of 23.5 per game. Not only did he remain among the season's scoring leaders throughout the campaign, but he also broke the all-time Creighton scoring record held by Elton "Stretch" Tuttle at 1303 points. The Pennsylvania sharpshooter's career total rose to 1443 points before he hung up his number 43 for the last time.

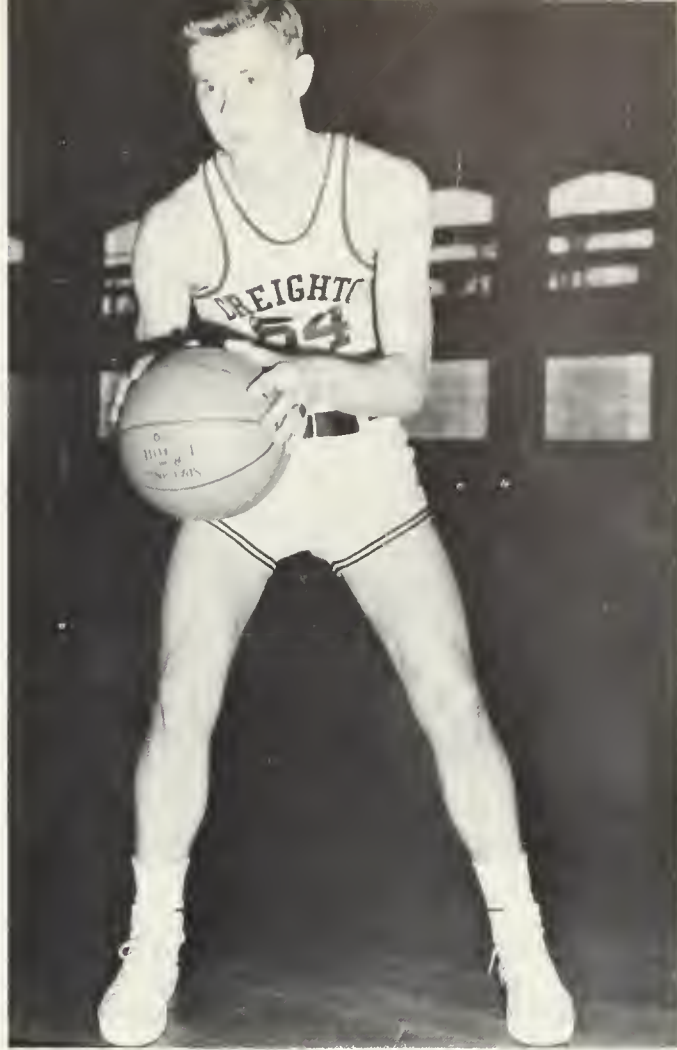

Cole's chief helper was jumping-jack sophomore Bob Gibson, who showed All-America potential with his outstanding all around play. He sunk 395 points for a 20.6 average. Bob was a topnotch rebounder despite his 6'1" stature, which is small in comparison to some of the towering athletes who roam the nation's basketball courts.

Freshman center Bob O'Dell ranked third among Bluejay scorers this year with 225 points and an average of 12.5.

Other players who saw regular action were sophomores Dan Simon, Glen Sullivan, and Gerry Spethman, freshmen Charles Forberg and Doug Klanderud, and Senior Hugh Manhart.

Creighton	66
Buena Vista	51

Creighton opened the year by defeating traditional rival Buena Vista at the Jay gym, 66-51. Cole led the Bluejay attack with 20 points, followed closely by Gibson with 19.

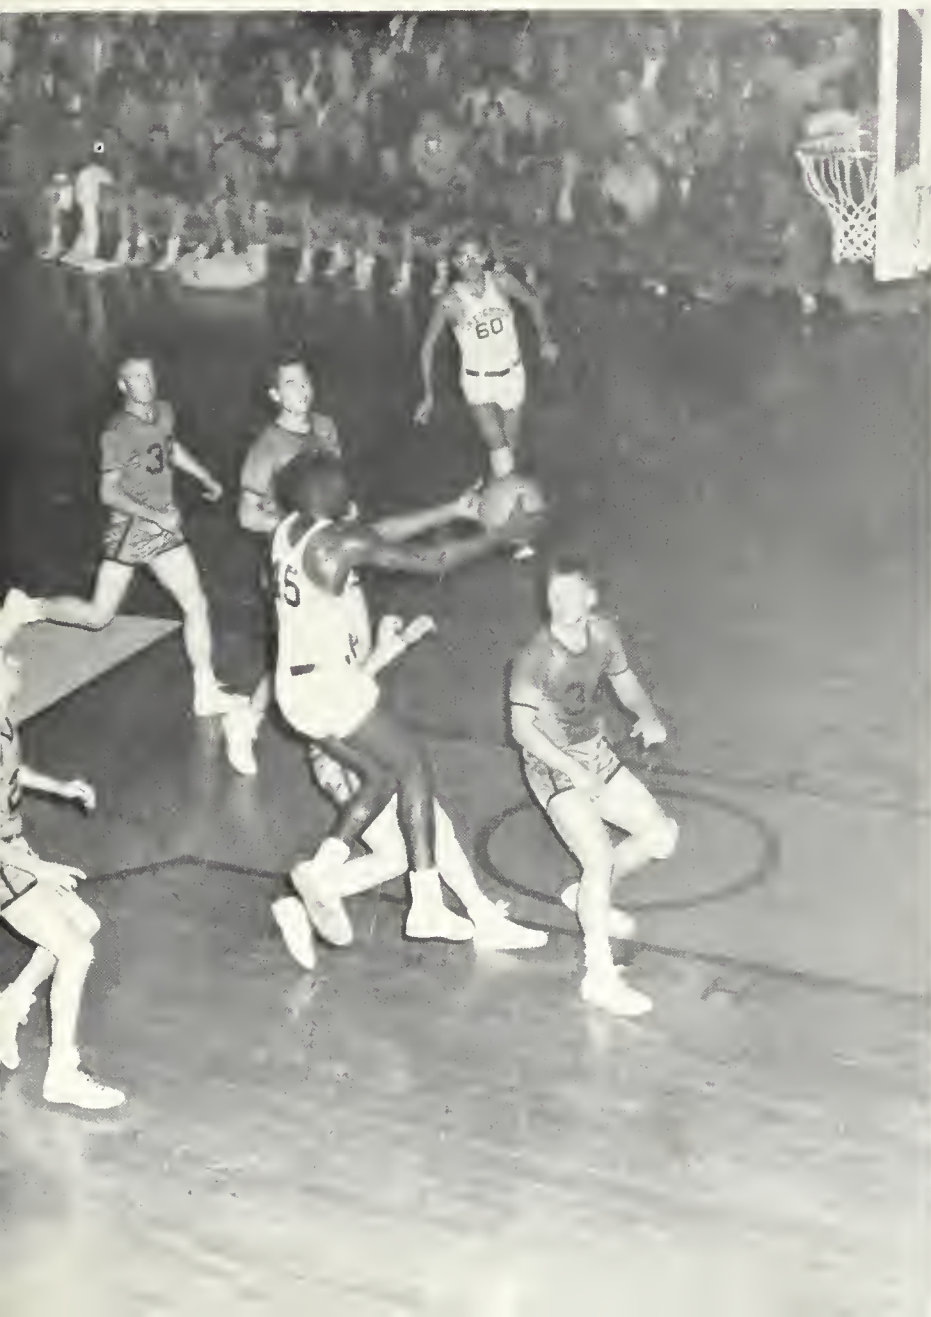

Captain Eddie Cole

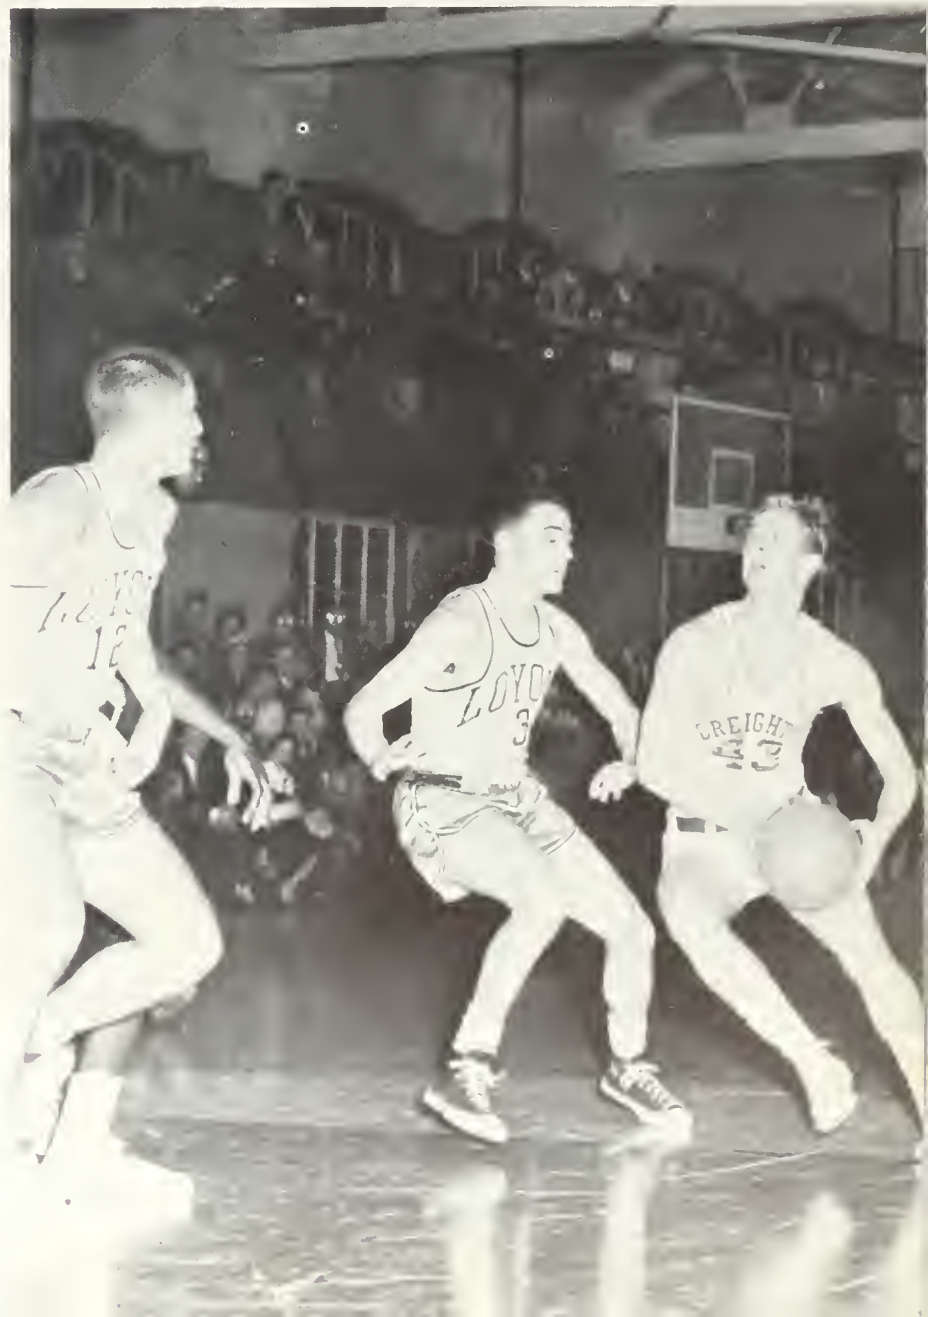

Creighton	75
Morningside	79

Starting a four game road trip at Sioux City, the Blues dropped an overtime thriller to Morningside, 79-75. Four of the five starting Jays fouled out, hampering the attack in the second half. Cole had his top night of the year in this game, breaking the gym scoring record with a blistering 47 points.

Two more on the way.

Creighton	61
Springfield Teachers	80

Moving down into Missouri, the Jays fell before the onslaught of the defending NAIA champions, Springfield Teachers, 80-61. Cole again led with 21 points, as Gibson added 16.

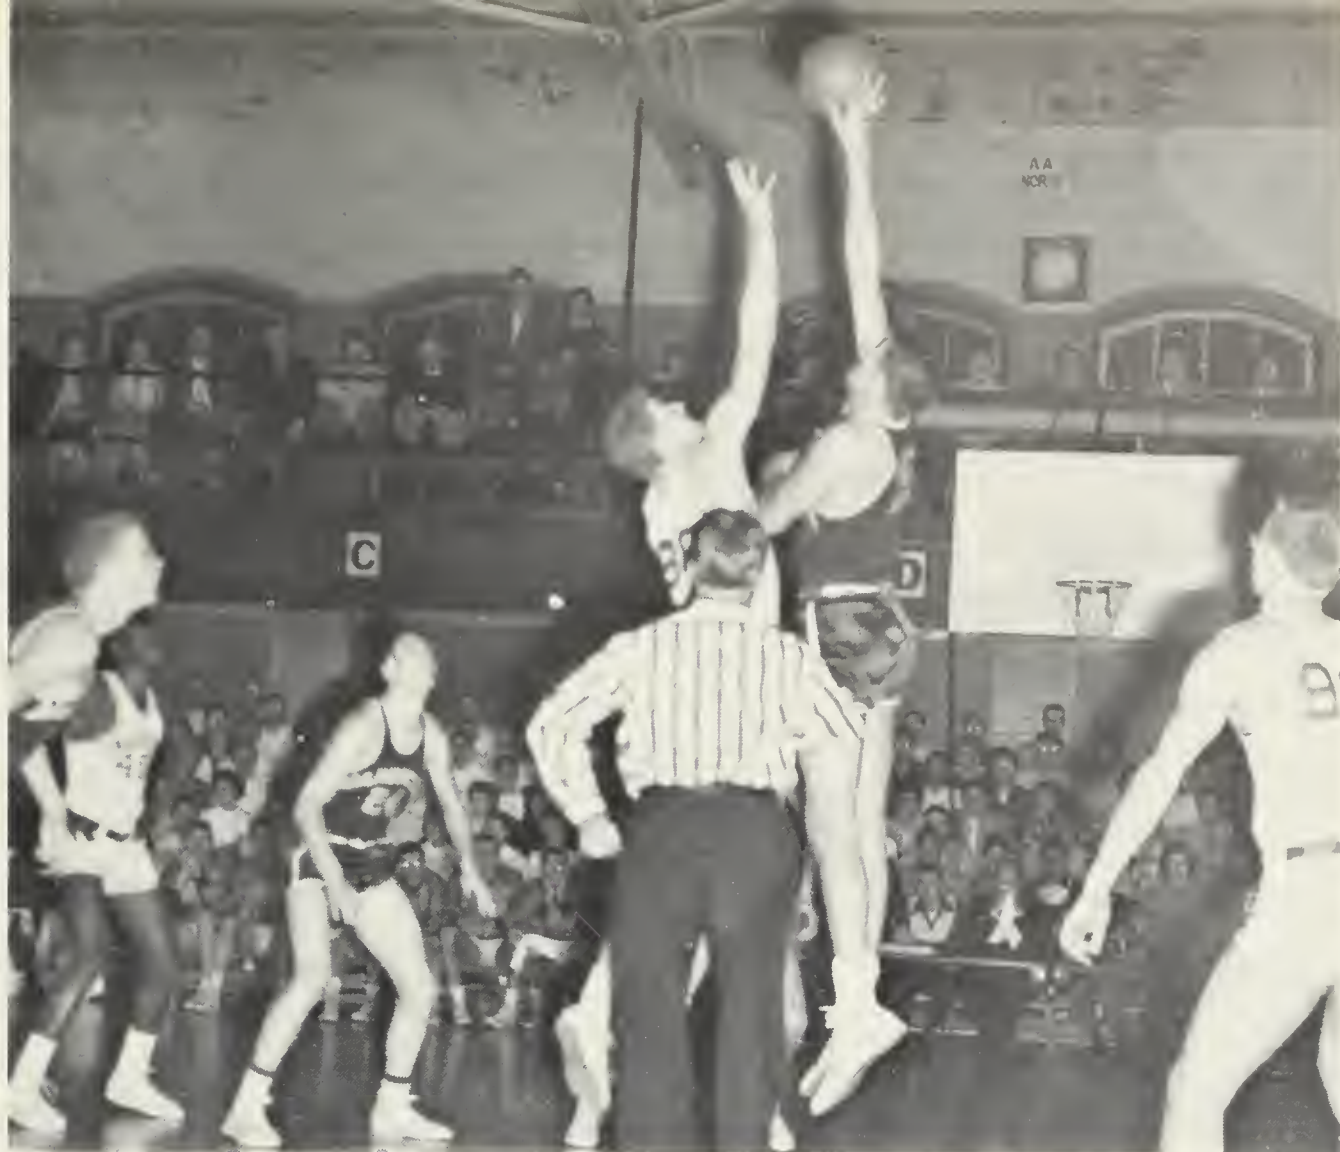

Bob Gibson

Where'd that flat ball come from?

Creighton	54
Tulsa	69

The road-weary Creightons lost another the following evening to Tulsa University, 69-54. Creighton led at half time, but ran out of gas in the second frame and were overtaken by a Hurricane rally. Cole and Gibson, with 20 and 18 points respectively, were tops for Creighton.

Creighton 68

Marquette 96

The Jays ended the long road trip at Milwaukee, facing tall Marquette. The Golden Avalanche got off to an early lead and coasted to a 96-68 margin. Cole poured in 32 points, one short of the Marquette gym record. Terry Rand of Marquette followed with 29.

My, what long arms you have!

Bob O'Dell

Creighton 72

Wyoming 76

In the Homecoming tilt December 10, Creighton played one of its best games of the year, but were finally nipped by the highly touted Cowboys, 76-72.

Cole was torrid in the first half, sinking 18 markers and leading the Hilltoppers to a 39-35 margin. An ankle injury in the second stanza slowed him, and the taller and more experienced Wyomings pulled out a close one.

We'll have none of that, Bob.

Dan Simon

Creighton 84

South Dakota 76

Creighton's second victory of the season came the following week against South Dakota, 84-76. Cole rimmed 34 tallies to gun the win, but edged for the evening scoring honors by Don Jongewaard of the Sodaks, who sank 38.

Almost blocked by Simon and Gibson.

O'Dell hooks one in for two.

Creighton 84

Regis 92

Regis of Denver proved too hot for Creighton in the next game, posting a 92-84 victory at the Hilltop gym. Cole rammed home 25 points to lead Bluejay scorers.

The one that got away.

Creighton	65
Iowa State	100

In the last game before Christmas, Iowa State rolled over the Blues, 100-65 at Ames. Gibson and Cole, with 19 and 18 points, were high for Creighton.

Glen Sullivan

It's up and in.

Creighton	85
Gonzaga	96

The Jays ran into another hot opponent in the first game of the new year and bowed to Gonzaga, 96-85. Eddie Cole led the Bluejays once again, potting 25 markers. He was edged for the evening scoring honors by Jerry Vermillion of Gonzaga, who hit 26. The Gonzaga total exceeded the Creighton gym scoring mark, set last year at 93 by Creighton against Marquette.

Some 175 students traveled to Des Moines for the renewal of the traditional rivalry with Drake. The favored Bulldogs edged the Bluejays despite the torrid scoring of Cole and Gibson, who hit 26 and 23 points.

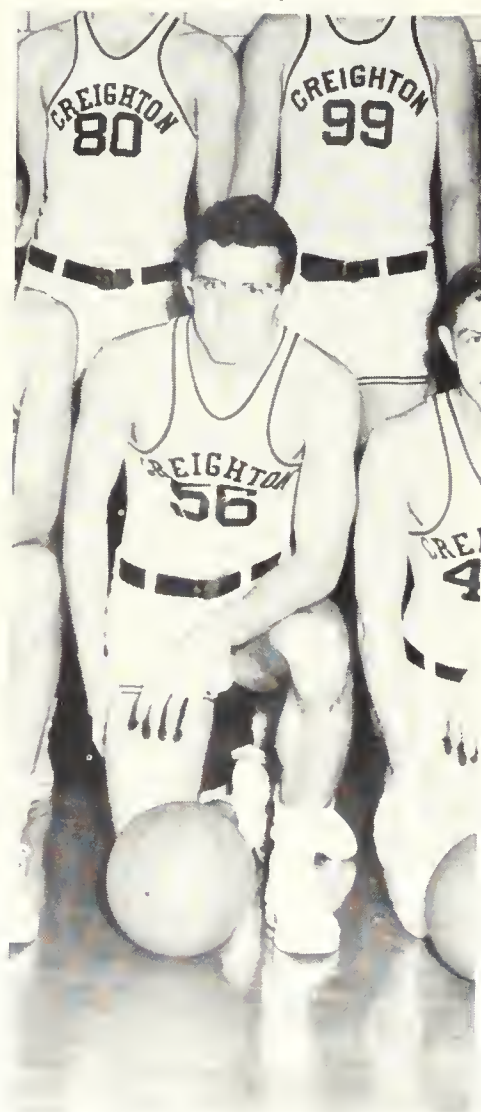

It's Gollon all the way.

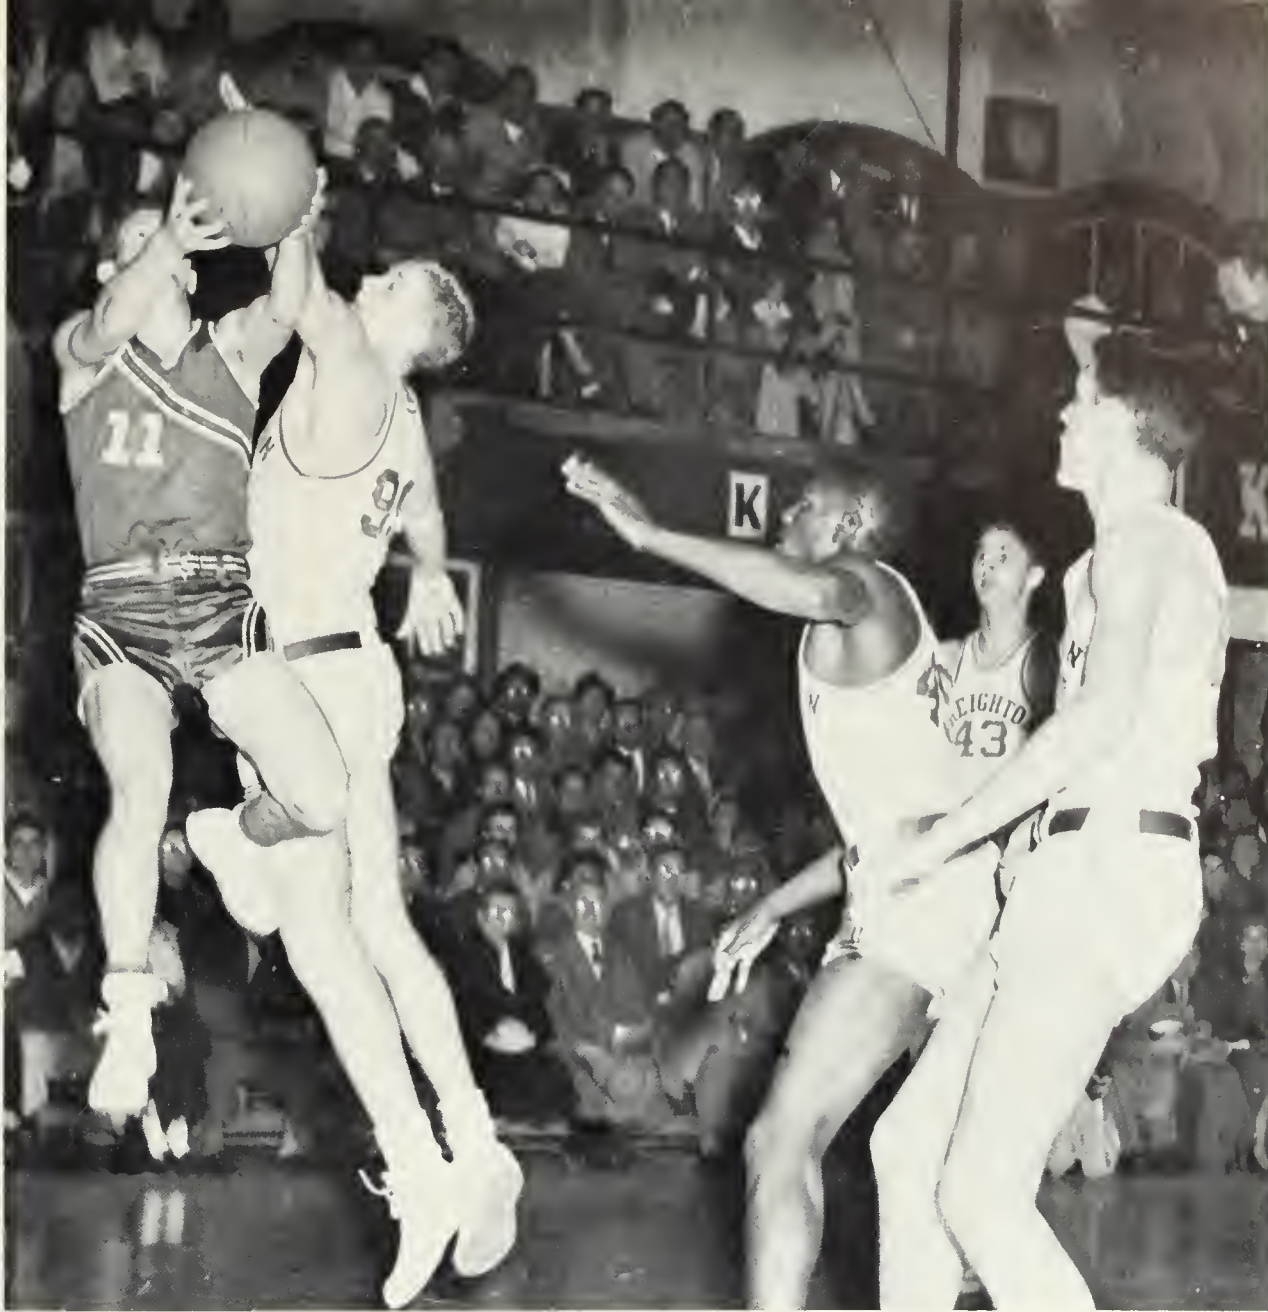

Creighton	69
South Dakota	63

The third win of the season was at the expense of South Dakota, 69-63 at the Hilltop rink. Cole tallied 20 for the honors of the evening. His last basket gave him a career total of 1304 points, one ahead of Elton Tuttle's all-time Creighton mark.

Jerry Spethman

Creighton	61
Omaha U.	59

The Jays won their second straight two nights later, edging Omaha U., 61-59. Cole fouled out early, but Gibson took command, meshing 23 and turning in a fine floor game besides.

Mackie gets past O'Dell to shoot.

Charlie Forberg

Creighton	85
Loras College	86

Creighton then took off for a two-game tour in eastern Iowa. They were nipped 86-85 by Loras College of Dubuque in the first game. It was close all the way. Four Jays fouled out, causing the Creighton attack to sputter in the late stages. Gibson was high man for Creighton with 28.

That's no accordion, Bob.

Creighton	73
St. Ambrose	100

Two nights later, Creighton ran into the hottest scoring exhibition of the year. Center Jim Fay of St. Ambrose College dunked 43 points, leading his team to a 100-73 conquest of the Jays.

This one's in the bag.

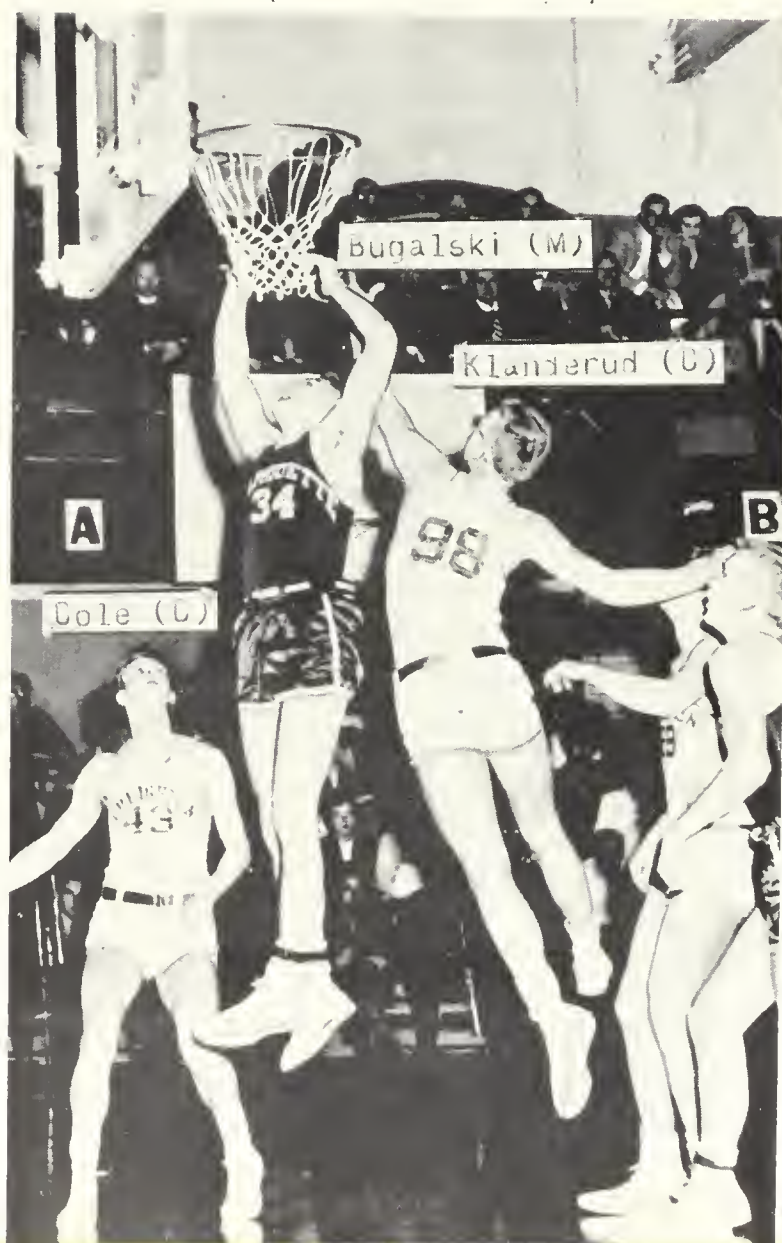

Hugh Manhart

Creighton	77
Marquette	88

Creighton returned home and bounced right back to play an outstanding game against Marquette, ranked ninth in the nation. The Warriors pulled out an 88-77 victory by virtue of deadly free throw accuracy. The Jays played the seasoned campaigners from Milwaukee on even terms until the final two minutes. Gibson with 25 and Cole with 19 led the Blue bid. bid.

Marquette scores on a lay up.

Creighton	68
Loyola	90

Against another Jesuit rival, Loyola of Chicago, Creighton matched the boys from the Windy City basket for basket for about three quarters. They then faded and Loyola roared to a 90-68 triumph. The Ramblers hit 34 of 38 free throws, a Hill-top record. The ever-improving Bob Gibson again led the Jays with 25 markers.

What'll it be?

O'Dell gets the squeeze play.

Creighton	94
Drake	87

The return game with Drake saw the Jays reverse the previous verdict in Des Moines, and they took the win, 94-87. The dynamic scoring duo, Cole and Gibson, poured in 31 points apiece to lead the Blue assault. This was the highest point total ever achieved by a Bluejay team on the home court.

Omaha U.	95

The final tilt, against Omaha U. saw the West Dodgers snap the Creighton domination over them of 16 straight games. The Indians came back from a 41-47 halftime deficit and pulled ahead in the final three minutes, going on to win 95-86. Creighton fouled deliberately in the waning moment, gambling on missed free throws. But O.U. was hot at the charity line and moved on to the win.

Captain Eddie Cole closed out his career brilliantly, bagging 27. He was edged for top honors by his illustrious running mate, Bob Gibson, who potted 28 before fouling out late in the game.

Almost every Thursday the people who work on the campus chronicle can be separated from normal students, if such things exist. Nerves are raw; tempers are short. Putting out a paper is a lot of work; but in the end the result is well worth the hours spent getting stories, writing stories, and rewriting them. The Bluejay staff offers its congratulations and condolences to the weekly rag, The Creightonian.

Managing Editor Bill Ramsey pounds out an editorial for the paper.

"Behind the Scenes" by Jim Schwertley lets the reader know the inside story.

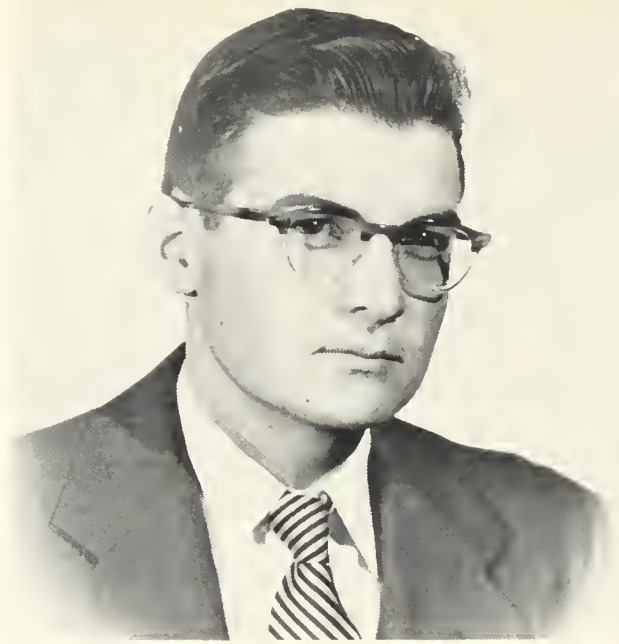

I don't think that the Society Editor Carleen Hess is working on the news.

Mary McGrath works out the news for this week's issue of the chronicle.

If anyone ever tells you that it is easy to put out a yearbook, tell him he is crazy! Speaking as one who knows, it's a real job. Organizations never seem to meet. Can you identify this person? No one has ever seen him before. How did he get in the picture? "I'm sorry that group is no longer functioning." So it goes all the time. As soon as you solve one problem another appears. But it's not all work, no? You have a lot of fun and certainly see what the poor journalist feels like.

Activities Neu and Halls Calfo look up from doing nothing. They are debating who has the more work to do. It cannot be Calfo. He can't type. It's poor Neu.

University Purchasing Agent

No matter how hard the members of a yearbook staff work, it is impossible to put out a yearbook without the constant help and encouragement of a group of advisors, who untangle the seemingly insurmountable difficulties and set the yearbook back on its course. We of the staff had our financial problems, and the man we went to see to end them was Robert Burke. No matter what crisis developed it seems that it had also happened once before, and Mr. Burke remembered how to solve it. If we needed help on ideas or just plain encouragement, Harry Dolphin always was around. Need a picture of some past event just ask Harry. So it was with all the members of the News Bureau and the Public Relations staff. Here's a vote of thanks on behalf of all the members of the staff.

A progressive university such as Creighton is fast to utilize any new means of spreading knowledge. With men like Fr. Williams and Frank McCann behind the scenes, Creighton has forged ahead in the world of television. Creighton participates in two television shows in Omaha, "Doors of Knowledge" and "To Your Health" over WOW-TV, and one program over KLON-TV in Lincoln, "Capsules of Knowledge". Through this media the public is made aware of the continuous advance of knowledge both in the sciences and the liberal arts at this university.

Dial 550 and get the best in music and the latest in news. KOCU trains the future announcers, disk jockeys, engineers, and quiz program MC's. There's plenty of hard work, but the rewards more than make up for it. KOCU provides the latest news from the wires of the United Press. It has direct coverage of elections, special events, and all Creighton sports events. Many members spend long hours working out unusual programs. Members of KOCU also hold a number of mixers each year. So remember keep your dial tuned to Omaha's sixth A.M. station, KOCU.

One of the few times that the two better halves of the campus can get together is on this page of the annual. The Coed Club, which numbers among its members every full time girl in Arts, is one of the active organizations which lends its whole-hearted support to any of the projects which face the student body. Under the leadership of Jean Thirtle, the Coeds reached new heights this year. The Commerce Coeds although few in number have a dominant influence on the Commerce School which is predominantly male. Throughout the year the girls of both clubs sponsor numerous activities such as mixers in the band box, picnics, and annual teas. As the number of women at C. U. gradually grows, so does the number in these two clubs.

This year saw the merger of three of the brightest groups on the campus. The French, German, and Spanish Clubs formed the Tri-Lang. The professors of the modern language department act as moderators for the group. The head man is Jim Farber who is ably assisted by Bill Harker, Tim Moore, Arlene Lampe, Maurice Coleman, Ernest Divis, and Ronald Chocolaad. An unusually large number of students showed interest in the language club reviving the spirit of old years. A number of speakers addressed the club during the year. Among the speakers were Fr. Williams, who spoke about UNESCO; Fr. Dougherty, who told about his experiences at the Spanish seminary in New Mexico; Dr. Wilhelm Reisege, a school teacher from Germany who spoke about teaching English in Germany. The Tri-Lang abounds with activities. In February they gave the Heart Beat, a valentine party; in spring they held their annual picnic. One of the events which was aimed at illustrating the different customs of Europe and acquainting the students with them was a musical featuring songs from various lands. There's no doubt that Tri-Lang is a great organization enjoyed by all.

Always one of the most active organizations on the campus, the Debators with their new moderator, Fr. Conway, have blazed many a path this year. A large group has shown interest in debating, and as a result, in the future Creighton will have well prepared teams. This year the first team went to Denver to attend the Denver University Invitational Debate Tournament. They also participated in the debates at the University of Nebraska and Omaha. In March, the team traveled to Madison, Wisconsin for the Delta Sigma Rho tournament. All members of the club have an opportunity to debate in Omaha. Debating this year has been exceptional, and Fr. Conway's coaching his members in the finer points of debating has certainly paid off. The Creighton Orotorical Association — the fancy name — the Jay Talkers, make the name of Creighton well known in the speaking world. In the future, look for great things from this group.

student union

At long last, a dream is about to come true — the Student Union. Just before the second semester, the student body voted to add five dollars to the tuition so that in 1956 work might be started on the Student Union Building. By 1960, we will have one of the finest unions in the Midwest. As always, the members of the group have worked tirelessly to devise ways to increase the meager fund. Early in the school year, the Student Union held the annual Student Union Ball which was a success both financially and socially. Monthly meetings are led by Grover Smith who with the advisory committee channels some of the wild ideas into working projects. A rousing hand for the idealists of the campus.

The Crei-Vets are the ex-G.I.'s of the school, mainly Korean War veterans, but still a few old fogies from the big war. The monthly Tuesday meetings are watched over by Commander Pat Hinchey. The moderator is Dr. Joseph Soshnik. This progressive organization backs all of the school activities. If you want something done, go see the Crei-Vets. The Vets are special friends of the Student Union. It was through their unceasing efforts that the Student Union Ball was a success. The Crei-Vets hounded the men in the beanery, and you had to buy a ticket from one of these indomitable salesmen. The Crei-Vets have their hands in countless projects among which are the annual parties and the Christmas gathering for the kiddies. So gather round while I enlighten you on how I stormed the beach at New Caledonia and took the island all by my lonesome.

The spokesmen for the freshman class at large is the Frosh Conclave. It numbers some twenty-five members which includes the respective officers of the various schools. This organization is one of the few which is sure to meet every week. For come rain or shine, Father Jansen will have Orientation. The members of the conclave collect attendance cards and participate in the weekly discussions. The primary purpose of the conclave is to promote good will for Creighton. Members are encouraged to bring their friends to Creighton. In fact, the Conclave is a virtual student recruiting agency; for during the holidays many of the members return to their high schools and tell prospective students about Creighton. During the year, the Conclave has a dance for the seniors of the city's high schools, the Hi-C dance. They also build a float for the Homecoming parade and hold the Freshman picnic. Hard-working, school-spirited, these are terms characterizing the Conclave members. Definitely an example for the rest of the school, the Conclave is truly a group which fulfills its purpose. Hats off to the people with the most school spirit.

The Shakespeareans of the campus are the Creighton Players. This mighty organization offers two plays each year, a dramatic vehicle in the fall and a musical in the spring. Monthly meetings are held at which the players hash over their feelings on dramatic technique. Dean Graunke presides and offers helpful suggestions. The club is open to all who are interested in dramatics whether it be in the field of acting as such, in directing, or in stage work. The competition for parts is keen among the members since with key roles go points toward membership in the National Dramatic Group, Alpha Psi Omega. "Papa Is All", the fall play, was a smashing success as plays go. Hard work paid off in dramatic laurels for many. The spring musical, "Finian's Rainbow" was held in April. It combined the talents of many of the Creighton students. Actors, singers, dancers, and musicians joined forces. During the year the Players hold parties where skits are presented. This year they also presented two student productions entirely run by the players themselves. In May the group holds their annual banquet at which awards for the best performances of the year are presented.

behind the scenes

No production would ever reach the public were it not for the many people who work behind the scenes. At Creighton an unusual situation exists. The actors are also the ones who produce the plays. The stars of tomorrow's production the night before are the ones building the sets, fixing the lights, printing the programs, etc.

Although over the nation the Democrats came back into power, here at home the Republican party remained strong as usual. This shift in rule had effects at Creighton. There was renewed interest in the two clubs devoted to politics. The Democrats rallied as usual behind Jim Hart for congress. They distributed campaign literature, stopped students and corralled their votes, phoned constituents, and did everything possible to try to make the voter switch from the elephant to the donkey. But in the end when all the votes had been counted, Hart was barely nosed out by Judge Chase. The Democrats at least had one consolation; it was the best Year for Democrats in Nebraska in a long time. So back to the Moot court they retreat and start planning for the 1956 presidential campaign. The Republicans strive to keep in power as usual. With Tom Dorwart wielding the gavel, the meetings come to order. The Republicans are a varied sort at Creighton, conservatives and the rightists; but on one point they stick together. Democrats in power spell doom for the country's economy, and the Democrats are a menace to the campus. The club has regular meetings where they strive to see that young people are informed about current political happenings. They are affiliated with Young Republicans' National Federation. At the end of the year, the two organizations come together. That is, they both land on the same page in the annual.

Far from home the members of the Hawaiian Club gather together and talk over their common interests. You couldn't find a better bunch of sports than the Hawaiian Clubbers. They sponsor bowling teams, some of the best you can be sure. They also have baseball and tennis teams. This is one of the clubs which retains a good strong membership every year. They hold a number of activities each month; a special event is the Thanksgiving dinner which the President of the University attends. As you can see the members can usually be spotted by their gay colored shirts. A strong asset to the campus are these strangers from across the sea.

One of the new organizations on the campus is the girls' drill team. These girls can tell their left foot from their right. Each Thursday the girls meet in the gym and rehearse their movements. The Student Bar is one of the most active and popular and above all successful organizations on the campus. The group organized in 1950 has steadily grown in popularity. In 1953 the American Law Student Association ranked the Student Bar at Creighton as number one in the nation. In 1954 the Student Bar was ranked second. While other organizations strive for simplicity, the Student Bar is one of the most complicated but nevertheless one of the most efficient groups on the hill top. The Student Bar publishes a paper devoted to law problems, Assault and Flattery. Professor Winsor Moore is the faculty moderator and supreme justice of Creighton's Bar. Don Bell presides over the weekly meetings. Each member of the Student Bar is issued a membership in the Nebraska State Bar Association. Each year the Student Bar brings some new national honors to Creighton. More and more is the name of The Creighton Law School becoming known due to the energetic work of the members of the C. U. Bar.

In the old moot court the fluent and glib tongues of the future barristers of Ye Old United States rattle off statutes as though they were every day expressions. Constructive criticism and good-natured advice bring out the best in our future barristers.

Since Harry Dolphin rated first copy last year we thought he ought to again. He is the moderator you know. The Press Club is, well a lot of people think it is the people who hang around the newsroom, but really it isn't. Purpose of this illustrious organization is to promote interest in journalism. Most members have a good time instead. The Press Club sponsors a number of dances to raise money. I never found what they do with it. They hold a banquet twice a year at which rewards are handed out. Don't worry none of the yearbook staff got any. How all the folks who are normally clowns got in such a staid pose for this picture I'll never know. Heaven forbid these people will run tomorrow's newspapers. Strictly speaking you couldn't find a better group of unselfish, hard-working people. I had to say that otherwise I can't come into the newsroom. Come what may, the Press Club gives to newspapers, men and women with ideals and principles to run the press of tomorrow.

The Sophomore class is the class with the spirit. Most classes after their energetic freshman year settle back into a quiet state of lethargy. Not the Sophs. These balls of fire have periodic meetings at which they discuss ways in which they can torment the freshmen. They were the ones responsible for the frosh wearing beanies during homecoming week. They spent hours building a float and are still collecting money to pay off their debts as this book goes to press. The group also held a Halloween Party out at Hillhaven. If a person could find his way out to that far away place, he had a joyous time. The big man behind all this merriment is the sophomore president, Pete Whalen. The people in this picture are his able helpers. A mighty big hand to a great class. The Sophomore Class is a credit to the school.

Always noted for its parties and picnics, this year the Pasteur Club decided to devote more time to enlarging its role as parent of aspiring biologists. A number of interesting lectures were given. One of the most interesting events of the year was the Club's Dog Show. But a word about the Pasteur Club would not be complete without mention of its fabulous picnic; after all, I heard tell they invented the picnic.

The Creighton affiliate of the American Society meets monthly to discuss current chemical problems. The Moderator of organization is Dr. Christopher Kenny. President of the chemistry connivers is Larry Pillepich. The ACS is the true friend of young scientists. Interesting demonstrations of basic chemical laws are shown to the amazed audiences down in D-7. The group doesn't only hold business and professional meetings but has one social meeting each year. The ACS usually builds a float for the homecoming parade and also usually wins a prize. If you'd like to blow up your house in a more scientific manner, or if you would like to have your chemistry experiments fail more completely, come join the chemistry major or minors down in the chem lab.

Fr. Bernard Hasbrouck, Frances McBride, Tom Kilker, Carol O'Sullivan.

A new organization on the campus is the Pep Club. This young group has more spirit than any ten old organizations or than any group with ten times its number of followers. These hearty people are always at the games to cheer the team on to victory. They welcome home Creighton's teams. They send letters to Creighton's teams. These people go all out for the school. Fr. Hasbrouck, moderator of the Pep Club, has been the one with many of the ideas to enliven spirit at Creighton. Mainly made up of frosh, this club is a helper to all activities. They sponsor dances and rallies. An orchid to the Pep Club on behalf of all the BlueJay staff.

How did he ever make sergeant?

Sgt. Clifford W. Hark instructs the first advanced students.

If they make those guys sergeants what is this man's army coming to?

Creighton's sharpshooting rifle team draws aim on the target.

atten-shun right shoulder arms

Lt. Col. Francis T. Devlin, PMS&T.

The advanced students ponder over a map in a most serious manner. I wonder why? Oh! The Enemy is coming!

"That will be twenty demerits, Calfo. Normally we make it a rule to wear our uniform to class!"

All the male students of the University love this department. Everyone attends R.O.T.C. classes. If you don't your draft board will get you. "I love that D classification." This is the cry of the advanced students. Aside from the gripes, and there are many, the military department is really a lot of fun. I love to march. Don't you? Don't like to clean your rifle? Son, you'll never make a soldier.

Capt. William Obley and one of the sergeants study the day's tactical exercise.

pace - setters

Rumor has it that to be honored as a Pace-Setter, one has to be on the staff, the editor's fiancée, in the high income brackets, or "in" with the editor. Such is not the case. A long list of names was submitted to the Deans of Men and Women, who were charged with the final selections. Since this is a new section in the Blue Jay, a set of rules were drawn up to govern future selections:

Subject: Pace-Setters

1. Each year the BLUE JAY honors a select group of Juniors and Seniors who are considered outstanding for campus activities and service to the University.
2. Hereafter the Pace-Setters, who were Juniors the previous year, shall select the Pace-Setters subject to the approval of the Deans of Men and Women. Although the number of Pace-Setters may vary, it is this person's opinion that there should be approximately 20 to 24 persons so honored.
3. The Deans of Men and Women may reject any proposed candidate and in such case may select one from the list of alternates, but they may not add any candidates of their own.

Epilogue

Pictures, copy, dummies, cropping, deadlines, proofs — and now this is it, the '55 Blue Jay; not better than ever, not bigger than ever, but more troublesome than ever. If anyone has been offended, I apologize; with all who have had a hand in the book's production, I sympathize; whoever has been patient and considerate I eulogize. If this yearbook has been able to record in words and pictures the past school year and has made a few more people interested in Creighton, then "exegi monumentum perennius aere."

Jim Arens, Ed.

Credo of Creighton

We believe in God

We believe in the personal dignity of man

We believe that man has certain rights which come from God and not from the State

We therefore are opposed to all forms of dictatorship, holding that the "total man" (totalitarianism) belongs to the State

We believe in the sanctity of the home - the basic unit of society

We believe in the natural right of private property, but likewise that private property has its social obligations

We believe that Labor has not only rights but obligations

We believe that Capital has not only rights but obligations

We are vigorously opposed to all forms of "racism" - - persecution or intolerance because of race

We believe that liberty is a sacred thing, but the law, which regulates liberty, is a sacred obligation

We believe in inculcating all the essential liberties of American Democracy and take open and frank issue with all brands of spurious "democracy"

We believe, briefly, in the teachings of Christ, who held that morality must regulate the personal, family, economic, political and international life of man if civilization is to endure

I am the Alpha and the Omega.
